HARVARD MAY BE PUT TO TEST BY CORNELL

Much Interest in the Many Football Games Carded This Afternoon.

NO EASY TIME FOR YALE

Princeton to Face Holy Cross, While Army Eleven Will Take Field Against Notre Dame.

Cornell men scout the idea that their eleven is going up to Cambridge this afternoon to make a holiday for Harvard. There is no disposition toward confidence in winning, but the feeling is general that Dr. Sharpe and his assistants will give the Crimson the hardest test so far this season.

In some respects the game is the most important of the day, as a line will be furnished that should throw some light on struggles to come. Sufficient to the minute, however, are the games this afternoon, and there are enough of them to keep followers of the sport thoroughly occupied and interested.

An analysis of the game in which Pittsburgh defeated Cornell last Saturday by a score of 20 to 7 shows that in everything except vigilance in following the ball the men of Ithaca excelled. In punting, in straight rushing from scrimmage formation and in most of those points by which football strength is gauged Cornell was stronger than its opponent, and yet Cornell was badly beaten. It is on this, however, that the coaches are banking for a good showing against Harvard, so that an interesting game is promised, although it looks on paper as if the Crimson should win by a safe margin, even without Mahan and Hitchcock on the field.

Yale may get a bigger mouthful than can be swallowed in facing the Colgate eleven, which Larry Bankhart has carefully moulded into a thoroughly strong and smooth running machine. The Army team beat Colgate only in the last minute of play, and all accounts suffered in comparison.

Since then there has been time to smooth off rough edges, and Yale, without several of the regulars in the line-up, is almost sure to get quite as much of a test as Howard Jones and the other coaches care for.

Princeton in playing Holy Cross will face a team already defeated by Harvard, 47 to 7, and Yale, 10 to 0. For this reason the game will appeal to those followers of football who persist in the idea that comparative scores form a safe basis for estimating the strength of rival eleven. That Princeton should win is conceded, for although the Worcester college has a hard playing, well balanced eleven it does not appear to be of the same calibre as the one in Jungle Town.

The same holds true of the Pennsylvania-Penn. State game, scheduled for Franklin Field, Philadelphia. The Quakers have a score to settle with their rivals of somewhat similar name, for the Penn. State men have made trouble in past years. This season appears to be an effort for Penn. State, and it is likely that George Brooke's eleven will roll up a sizable score to square accounts.

The United States Military Academy team will act as a strenuous host to the Notre Dame eleven from the Middle West, and some interesting and perhaps sensational football should result. The Western brigade has been playing a fast, open game this season and has scored repeatedly by brilliant and complicated forward passes. In facing the Army on a dry field at West Point the visitors will have an excellent opportunity to display the style of football popular in the Middle West.

In the Army they will find a team well versed in up-to-date Eastern offensive and defensive tactics. For this reason the test of the two systems will be awaited with as much interest as the outcome of the Syracuse-Michigan game at Ann Arbor, which is also down for decision.

In the southern section of the Eastern gridiron world two games of prominence stand out in the Carlisle-Georgetown contest at Washington and the Navy-Lehigh clash at Annapolis. It would appear as though the net result of the two games would be an even break from a sectional point of view, for Lehigh can hardly hope to beat the powerful Navy team.

Other games among the many scheduled for decision which hold promise of some skillful exhibitions of modern gridiron play include Dartmouth vs. Amherst, Brown vs. Vermont, Lafayette vs. Ursinus, Pittsburgh vs. Bucknell, Wesleyan vs. Rutgers and Swarthmore vs. Johns Hopkins.

Considered one of the most important games in the execution of Stagg's new forward passes, the disbarment yesterday from conference football of John Yruwink, left end, was a severe blow to the football team of the University of Chicago.

Lafayette Prattles Signals.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Easton, Penn., Oct. 31.—The final practices for the Lafayette-Ursinus game were limited to signal work, kicking, passing and the regular fundamental exercises here to-day. There have been a number of minor injuries on the Lafayette squad, and Coach McCaig did not deem it wise to take any chances of having any of his valuable men hurt in scrimmages.

A number of substitute men have been used in the last drills of the week. Blackburn has been used in the place of Schenck at fullback. This has thrown on him the burden of making most of the forward passes, and he has qualified in these plays. Hammer, quarterback, has been shifted to fullback, and in the capacity has played several times on the "varsity."

No Light Work for Brown Eleven.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Providence, R. I., Oct. 31.—The Brown football team is in excellent trim for its annual game with Vermont to-morrow afternoon, after a hard week of practice. The final drill to-day consisted of what is generally known as "light" work, but the coaches drove the men so hard that the team had as stiff a workout as an hour of scrimmage would have afforded. After the first few minutes of lumbering it was signals until the time came for a set-up. Henry Gottsoll and Gelb will not take part in to-morrow's game because of injuries.

Brown will present the following line-up:

CAPTAIN MUNNS, OF THE CORNELL ELEVEN, WHO EXPECTS TO GIVE HARVARD A HARD BATTLE TO-DAY

Little Rest for Elevens on Eve of Week-End Gridiron Battles

Yale Has a Two Hour Secret Practice—Coaches Lay Emphasis on the Offensive Play.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

New Haven, Oct. 31.—There was another two-hour secret practice session for the Yale football squad this afternoon. Three elevens had a long signal drill, and later there was individual work in kicking, blocking and breaking through. Howard Jones is taking no chances of further injuries, and there was no scrimmage.

This week's work has been encouraging, and although there will be a good many substitutes in the line to-morrow, the coaches are depending on Cornell. Knowles and Wilson to keep up the good work they have done in practice.

All the emphasis this week has been on offensive play, and the "varsity" has shown the effect in greater power and speed and the development of surer interference. The absence of Puppely, about whom the coach's forward passing has been built, was a handicap, but Wilson has been drilled in shooting this week and will probably try a few forward passes to-morrow.

Ben Avery is still suffering from a wrenched ankle, but will start the game at left end. The injury to "Nick" Carter, the other "varsity" outpost, is more serious than was thought, and he may not play for a couple of weeks. Hubbard, who is fast and a clever forward pass receiver, will play in his place.

Harvard Expects a Hard Game.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 31.—While Cornell has not made the best of records this year, the Harvard "varsity" expects to get its hardest game of the season to-morrow.

While Harvard will have to play without the services of Mahan at fullback and Hitchcock at right tackle, the team will be strong in the backfield with Bradley, who is surely a first string man.

The rush line, however, will be weakened because of the absence of the veteran Hitchcock. Were this the Princeton game, Dob Storer would go back to tackle, but to-morrow he will remain at end and all of the substitute tackles will be used. Except for this position, however, it is Percy Haughton's intention to send all of his regulars through the entire game, if possible.

The players all are in first class trim except O'Brien, and even he is believed to be good for sixty minutes' hard play. Brickley did a lot of work in the drop kicking this afternoon, but Harvard will attempt to get its score against Cornell by rushing, rather than on field goals.

Cornell arrived this afternoon, and most of the players visited Soldiers' Field. The men are of good size and seem to be in tiptop condition.

Logan will be at quarterback for the Crimson, and will go through the game. No man on the squad has improved more than he during the last two weeks, so the disappointment of Bradley's dropping out of the quarterback running has completely passed.

Stevens Backfield Improves.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

The Stevens football team went through a light signal practice yesterday afternoon in preparation for to-day's game with Delaware College. Hersloff and Musk in a punting duel averaged about forty-five yards under favorable conditions.

The backfield has shown much improvement since the shake-up. Howell at left end has shown himself master of the forward pass, and is expected to show up well in the game.

days, the University of Pennsylvania football eleven will take the field against Pennsylvania State in the annual gridiron battle on Franklin Field to-morrow, confident of avenging the two successive defeats administered by the up-state team the last two years.

The line-up of the Red and Blue will be somewhat different from that which faced the Indians last week. Harris will play right tackle in place of Carter, the latter moving over to left guard in the position formerly held down by Russell, while Bloom and Murdoch will be on the ends instead of McCall and Koons.

The rest of the line-up will be the same. All the men are in good condition. Both teams went through their final workout here to-day. While the Quakers were indulging in a light signal drill on Franklin Field, the up-state team had its last practice on the golf links of the Whitmarsh Country Club, on the outskirts of the city.

Amherst Regulars in Condition.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Amherst, Mass., Oct. 31.—In final preparation for the big game with Dartmouth here to-morrow the Amherst eleven spent two hours on the field in hard practice. There was a signal drill for an hour, and the rest of the time was spent in catching and running back punts.

Captain McGay showed especially well this afternoon in punting, sending the ball off repeatedly for over fifty yards. The Amherst team will be much stronger than at any other time in the last three weeks, as the regulars are all in good condition.

A great deal of ginger has been shown in practice all week. This is attributed to the work of Dick Abele, who has taken charge of a good part of the coaching. Abele has inspired the snap and vigor in the men.

Middies Out for Revenge.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Annapolis, Oct. 31.—The game between Lehigh and the Naval Academy elevens to-morrow is anticipated with more than usual interest, as Lehigh defeated the midshipmen last year and the latter are determined to reverse matters to-morrow.

It is believed here that everything points to a Navy victory, as the team is one of the strongest in years, while Lehigh is not thought to be nearly as strong as last season. It is likely that Blodgett will be in the backfield to-morrow, and this means that the backs will average

Harvard to Face Cornell Lack-ing Two Regulars—Lat-ter Team Drills on Soldiers' Field.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

West Point, Oct. 31.—The Army football team had its last practice here this afternoon before lining up against Notre Dame to-morrow. Day gave the men light work, consisting chiefly of signal drill, during which the plays to be used against the Westerners were brushed up.

Hobbs and Hodgson had a long punting drill. Both showed up well. The Notre Dame team arrived at noon to-day, and practised on the Army's gridiron for an hour this afternoon. The work was in earnest, but it is said was most satisfactory to Harper, coach of the Notre Dame team. Eichenlaub, fullback, who looks even bigger than McElwan, the giant centre of the Army squad, did some splendid kicking from placement, and proved that he may be dangerous to-morrow.

The Army will line up its strongest team for the battle. Markos and Hoze will be in at the wing positions; Wynne and Weiland tackle; Jones and Huston guards; McElwan centre; Prichard or Doe at quarter; Hodgson left half; Hobbs right half and Benedict fullback.

Williams Squad in Fine Trim.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Williamstown, Mass., Oct. 31.—A squad of twenty-one football men in prime physical condition left this morning for Springfield, where the Purple will oppose the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College to-morrow afternoon on Pratt Field. The team will spend the night at the Hotel Kimball and return to Williamstown to-morrow evening.

Comparative scores point to a hard fought and nearly equal struggle between the two elevens. The Purple probably will present the following line-up to-morrow:

Wesleyan Off for Rutgers.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Middletown, Conn., Oct. 31.—The Wesleyan football squad, twenty strong, left here at noon to-day for New Brunswick, N. J., where it will tackle Rutgers to-morrow. Hutchison said to-day before he left that he thought there was an even chance of victory.

Wesleyan is somewhat lighter than the New Jersey eleven, but expects to make up for this handicap by speed. The forward pass will be worked a good deal, while if opportunity offers Captain Eustis may try for a goal from the field.

The line-up will be the same as in the Amherst game except that Sargent will take Kenan's place at right tackle, the latter being out with a cracked rib. The Wesleyan alumni in New York City will entertain the squad at a smoker on Saturday night.

Syracuse Team in Detroit.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Detroit, Oct. 31.—Syracuse University's football squad of twenty-one men arrived here to-day, ready for the game with the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor to-morrow.

O'Neill, the head coach, did not accompany his team, having been detained in Buffalo by the death of his mother-in-law. He expects, however, to join the eleven before to-morrow's game. The visitors will spend to-night here and leave for Ann Arbor in the forenoon.

PRINCETON TO TRY OUT A NEW MACHINE

Football Shake-Up Comes as a Result of the Defeat by Dartmouth.

GLICK AT QUARTERBACK

Takes Place of "Stew" Baker and So Makes Place in the Backfield for Law, a Punter.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 31.—The results of a day or two of almost kaleidoscopic changes on the Princeton football team will be viewed with intense interest to-morrow, when the Tigers turn on the power with a practically new machine against Holy Cross.

Tremors of a thorough shake-up in the "varsity" eleven were felt early in the week, after the Dartmouth defeat became a potent fact, but few had the least presentiment of the sweeping changes that have been made and will be tested to-morrow.

Glick will take up his post at quarterback instead of at right half, where he has played up to this time. "Stew" Baker will occupy the bench, for a time at least, and Law will slip into Glick's place at half, while Semmens and W. Swart will hold the guard positions, leaving Gile and Longstreth to the pleasure of occupying a blanket on the side lines.

Phillips has been named by the coaches as left tackle, with Ballin as his running mate, while Hammond and Shea, who seems to have won the call over Lambertson, will be the ends. Captain Baker and Street, of course, will play their regular positions.

Finishing touches were put on this combination in secret to-day in a long signal drill, which emphasized the keen competition aroused by the big shake-up, for scarcely a man can now be sure of his place, and a mistake might mean his fall.

Rapid development has been made during the last week, not only in more individual spirit but in better team work, for no man is wanted who cannot make himself a part of the machinery that is being developed for the coming games.

A heavy shroud of secrecy has been kept by the coaches over the shifting of Glick to quarterback and the return of Law to backfield favor, but they have tested the arrangement fairly thoroughly in secret scrimmages, they say, and Glick has made good in every sense of the word. He is not unaccustomed to the intermediate position, even though he did begin the season at end and shifted to halfback before being tried at quarter.

For three years he generalised the Shady Side Academy eleven with a skill that won him fame in interscholastic circles, and for the last two days he has selected the plays for the "varsity" that have sent them down the field for many a touchdown against freshmen and scrub.

His ability to carry the ball was the deciding factor in his ousting "Stew" Baker.

Law is light for a football man, but has practically forced his way to a position on the team by his punting. For the last few days he has been getting off twisters that averaged as much distance as those of Gile and had the added advantage of better direction. No line plunger can be expected of him, but he is a slippery man on end runs, and will greatly increase the speed of the team.

Semmens and Swart have worked hard for their guard positions, and will get a final chance to clinch their places to-morrow, for the coaches still express a doubt as to what men will play on either side of E. Treunkmann in the big games.

The team will take the field against Holy Cross as follows:

ERASMUS WINS BY A POINT

Beats Bay Ridge Marksmen in Sub-Target Match.

A single point gave a sub-target victory to Erasmus Hall High School over the Bay Ridge High School team in a Public Schools Athletic League tournament match on the latter's range yesterday. The final score was 25 to 23.

The members of each squad shot steady throughout, with the exception of Reardon, of Bay Ridge, who fell down badly with a 28. No perfect scores were returned, but Sagan and Miller, of Bay Ridge, and Corey, of the Buff and Blue, had a good 34.

The scores follow:

PRINCETON RUNNERS READY

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 31.—Cross-country will rule the day here to-morrow, when the Princeton runners compete with Yale over the six mile course in the morning and eleven scholastic teams will run a three mile course in Princeton's annual interscholastic meet.

An unusually good race is expected between the older men on the Yale and Princeton "varsity" teams, for both teams have been doing most encouraging work in their practices this fall. For two years Yale has won the "cross-country" runs and the Tigers seek revenge.

Yale has had the added advantage of a professional coach for the last year, while the Princeton men have been compelled to train themselves almost entirely. Captain Morrison promises a close race, with every hope for a victory for the Tigers.

The Princeton team will be: Morrison (captain), Atha, Barnett, Doty, Dowell, Glover, Hayes and Hunter.

A schedule of three races has been arranged as follows:

November 1, Yale at Princeton; November 7, Columbia at Van Cortlandt Park, New York City; November 22, Intercollegiate at Van Cortlandt Park, New York City.

Sol Metzger to See Yale Play

Readers of The Tribune can count on full and accurate reports of all the leading football games which will be played this afternoon.

Sol Metzger, former captain and head coach of the Pennsylvania eleven, will be at New Haven to see Yale do battle with Colgate and to get his impressions of the Blue team for the Princeton game, now only two weeks off.

Herbert will make the journey to Cambridge to see Harvard and Cornell in action, not only for the sake of the game, which promises to be a good one, but to study the play of both elevens with a view to the Harvard-Princeton struggle next Saturday and the Cornell-Pennsylvania game on Thanksgiving Day.

MATTY GETS A DRUBBING

White Sox Revel in Hits and Beat Giants Easily.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 31.—Christy Mathewson was subjected to one of the severest drubbings of his career in trying to curb the Chicago White Sox here this afternoon. The "old master" was pounded for fourteen hits, including two doubles and two triples. "Matty" called upon his skill in the pinches, but in vain. The White Sox won by a score of 9 to 3.

"Matty" was at his worst in the fourth inning, when half a dozen runs were scored on him. In the last three frames, however, he settled down to something like his real form, but by that time the damage had been done.

"Lefty" Leverenz, the lanky southpaw, who serves his time with the Browns during the regular season, was on the mound for the White Sox and was in the midst of one of his good days. He limited the Giants to five hits. In the sixth inning, with the score 9 to 3 in his favor, he let down and was found for hits sufficient to score three runs.

The score by innings follows:

Chicago..... 0 0 1 6 2 0 0 0 8-9 14 2
New York..... 0 0 0 0 3 0 0 0 3-3 5 3
